

Learning design and pedagogical advice

In addition to learning technology support , we offer learning design and pedagogical advice across all stages of course and programme development.

Before proposing a new course, please speak with us about the process and design considerations.

We offer a wide range of learning design support. We can have a quick meeting with you to discuss changes you want to make to the assessment for an existing course or a new method of delivery, if you feel that the format for a current activity is not effective. Or we offer full learning design workshops for courses or programmes to really help you and the rest of the delivery team develop and map out all aspects of the teaching and learning.

Please contact us to discuss your needs around learning design!
