

Learning Sprint 1: Open P2P

Learning Sprint 1: Open P2P

Weeks 1&2

Your first sprint will focus on learning-to-learn from a peer-to-peer perspective (paragogy). We will start with the course induction, then move to situate you within a group (basho) before setting a 'problem scenario' that your group will work with until the end of Week 2.

Sprint 1: Aims

In Sprint 1 of this open course, you will do the following:

- Identify some of the key elements that form your own Learning Environments and lend support to the what you are interested in learning
- Gain insight and support from your Basho as a learner, enabling you to form a Personal Learning Network (PLN)
- Learn how to design and develop the parameters of group learning in formal and informal Learning Environments
- Learn how to learn (engaging with some theories of learning and begin to engage with the educational turn in art)

Sprint 1: Learning Outcomes

In Sprint 1 of this open course, you will mainly engage with course learning outcomes 1 and 3, specifically the elements in bold here:

L01 – creatively respond to artistic assignments and provide constructive feedback that supports peer learning

L03 – critically reflect upon what you have learned by researching, designing, running and documenting your workshop

Sprint 1: Problem Scenario

The following problem scenario presents a situation that you will engage with during this first Sprint.

I want to openly collaborate with my peers so that we can learn together. But, I don't know where to start. How might I create a way of working with my peers that will enable the open pooling and sharing of our skills?

Sprint 1: Assignments

You need to complete all of the work specified for both assignments and attend all classes:

Tuesday 26th September 2023 12:00 West Court, Main Building, Edinburgh College of Art You will take part in a Shift/Work workshop called Make Gold. You will each work in your Basho to complete this. As is the case with most of the workshops you will take part in during this course, Make Gold develops forms of experiential learning and forms part of an artistic practice (Shift/Work). The workshop is metacognitive: taking part in it will teach you how to devise and run your own workshops. You will be given more information specifically on this workshop after you complete it. Further Reading: Peeragogy 3.0 https://peeragogy.org/Peeragogy.io-3/peeragogy-3-0-beta3.pdf (link)	Thursday 28th September 2023 Edinburgh Sculpture Workshop 21 Hawthornvale, Edinburgh Sculpture Workshop, Edinburgh, GB EH6 4JT The Artist's Toolkit This workshop – led by the artists Debjani Banerjee and Dan Brown – will take place in the Courtyard Studio space at Edinburgh Sculpture Workshop 21 Hawthornvale, Edinburgh Sculpture Workshop, Edinburgh, GB EH6 4JT Debi Banerjee is Curator for Learning at Edinburgh Sculpture Workshop. Please make sure that you check MS Teams for details on when to arrive (different times for different students) Make sure you are wearing outdoor clothing (in case it rains) as we will be outside at some point today. (NB: You don't have to prepare for this workshop). What more should you do before the end of Week 2?

Please read through this in your own time:

Learning Module : Paragogy and Para-academia (link)

This learning module places the work you will do in the Make Gold and Artist's Toolkits workshops in an artistic and education context. In particular, it will introduce you to the politics of education in the present day.

Please make sure you complete it before you tackle the Sprint 1 Assignment at the end of Week 2....

Week 2 > Deadline 9:00am 2nd October 2023

Complete Sprint 1 Assignment on your own

You have the rest of the week to work individually on completing the Sprint 1 Assignment.

Please answer Questions 1-7.

Having done so, you should focus most of your time and attention on Question 8:

Write constructive advice that responds constructively to the Sprint's problem scenario:

"I want to openly collaborate with my peers so that we can learn together. But, I don't know where to start. How might I create a way of working with my peers that will enable the open pooling and sharing of our skills?"

Q. Based on your experience of this Sprint so far, what constructive advice would you give to resolve this problem?

Your constructive advice must be 500 words or more and must be submitted to the Learn VLE.

You can use the 'Additional Content' dropbox to add any of your research materials from Sprint 1 (e.g. diagrams, maps, notes, etc.) if you wish to do so.
