

Scottish Ring Sketches

Sketching Myths

I began doing some rough sketches of my inspiration for the project, the will o' the wisps. They are described as small green or blue dancing flames so drawing their indefinable shape gave me the idea for a very organic, flowing ring design. I did a chart of some colours I associate with the Scottish landscape and I would like to incorporate the blues and greens as they go hand in hand with the classic colour of the wisps while mimicking Scotland's scenery. The stones I'd like to use in my design are green tourmalines and aquamarines.
