

PARTY POPPER

Alongside my response to both the 'found object' and Serra's process of verbs, I have created a GIF, representing the stages a party popper goes through when used. I have done so in an attempt to shed light on the value placed upon simplistic mass-produced, material goods, within our society e.g. clothes that are so cheap they are bought for single use. And how this cycle is constant.

