

5 rectangles and 5 cubes in the same size-week4

This exercise is really fun for me because it does not require a ruler in the whole process. It is my first time to draw a shape without a ruler. I first find a midpoint and cross it with 4 lines to touch the point on the rectangle. Then I drew each one beside each other. The cubes are one used the two-point perspective way to create them in the same size.

