

Landscape using grid method-week8

I firstly sketch down a hand drawing of the grid method. According to this experiment of this methods. I have found grids was important in design, because it helps to organize the space and the layout. Grids can help draw things in actual shape and shows the perspective of the object well. Step by step, I drew a landscape using different colour in each line to distinguish each space better and I shaped the bottom part in the end to help it looks 3D

