

Shadows And Shade : Week 10

Drawing Challenge

I tried to focus on more basic primitives and primitive combinations, as I am still not so used to shading, and so I didn't want to make it too complicated for me.

I think at this point I understand the shading process, however the cast shadows are really challenging, especially for combined shapes like the house. However, I feel like I didn't do too bad at it, and I'm generally happy with how I've evolved in terms of shading.

