

My Rendered Vessels

I found that after rendering my vessels into different materials and background look like finished pieces that looking at them as solid objects. I love that you could see how the vessels would look like in different materials to make the come to life. I could then develop these vessels more with dfferent shapes. I might then develop these by incorporating more of my crystal research I have been doing.