The enhancement of cultural heritage remains during the urban regeneration projects in Athens.

The lecture is going to focus on the architectural interventions which were concluded in Athens during the past decade, starting from the preparation of the city for the 2004 Olympic Games, aiming at an urban regeneration combined with the enhancement of cultural heritage remains.

The ambitious upgrading programme presented multiple cultural goals, by means of creating pedestrian routes, including the restoration of ancient monuments, the incorporation of historical sites and registered monuments, the rehabilitation of residential areas as well as the renovation of important building facades situated along selected streets, the remodelling of streets and squares/public green spaces inside the Athens' Historical Triangle, and the improvement / relocation of public infrastructure.
