Welcome to our special Members' Stories Edition of the Staff Pride Network Newsletter We hope you enjoy this newsletter focussed on YOU, our members. Our Communications & Media Team have been involved in all lamnen of developments over the last year and they have managed to deliver amazing projects including the glossy newsletter at the end of 2016. To deliver a simpler, regular newsletter, they set up this Maliching format and with the launch of our logs nade it look pretty. I hope you agree. This fascinating edition brings together event reports, personal stories, university experiences and Staff Pride Networn includencing, from January 2017. We would love to hear from you abscriber. As a long that interests you will only be able to link to the full-length articles on our members SharePoint so please email us at staffpridenetworkQed.ac.uk to be added, whether LOBT+ colleague/PhD student, or straight/non-LOBT+ ally. Follow our Twitter for regular SPN updates (Unit linext time, Jonathan) Contents • Debbie Aitkehn — Coming Out To Students • Ali McDonald — LGBT & Internationalisation • Anabel NoelkarJonathan MacDride — LGBT & Internationalisation • Susan Thomson — Honest Empire screening: A Response Evening • Sina Maya Noberts — LGBT Mistory Month Asexual Awareness Evening • Sina Maya Noberts — LGBT Mistory Month Asexual Awareness Evening • Jonathan MacBride — Out in Empire Month Lengel • Olliver Main — Joining the University of Edinburgh Debbie Aitken - Coming Out To Students Altken - Cumiling Out to Staff Pride Active Ali McDonald - LGBT & Internationalisation In January along with two colleagues I attended the Stonewall Scotland LGBT and Internationalisation Seminar, hosted by the University of Dunder Having worked in International Student Support for over 8 years and more recently becoming a Staff Dignity and Respect Advisor, this sounded right up my street. Read more here Anabel Noelke/Jonathan MacBride — LGBT+ Research Promoted in The University As part of February's LGBT+ History Month calendar, Anabel Moelke hosted a seminar 'LGBT+ and the Media'. Both staff and students attended and after an introduction and video shoung her research. Anabel led a vibrant discussion. The following month Anabel Tepesated her research at Dentsu London and has since been published in a journal. The following email was sent on 15th March to the entire Business School staff mailing list and it made me proud to see my workplace promoting a colleague's work in the LGBT+ sphere... Read more here. Susan Thomson — Ghost Empire screening: A Response A documentary trilogy which I directed, Ghost Empire § Singapore, Ghost Empire § Cyprus (about the Turkish occupied North of Cyprus), as well as the trailer for Ghost Empire § Belize which is currently in postproduction, screened at Edinburgh University on the evening of Thursday 23rd Feb 2017 supported by the LGBT+ Staff network as part of LGBT+ History Month. The films look at the British colonial legacy of (now 36) former colonies, which continue to criminalise homosexuality, around the world. Read more here Gina Maya Roberts - LGBT+ History Month Asexual Awareness Evening The organizers had booked a narrow room with a table for twenty. By the time they'd closed the door for the screening, sixty people had arrived. Assexuality. clearly, its asubject of interest not be understimeted. It sales sense in our hyper-sexualized society to ask the question. 'Is it just overheleling'? It's easy to largine the weariness of an asexual-identifying person confronted with the daily stream of images in pop culture, and seeing themselves as outsiders and wanting greater recognition, and accommodation. Read more here. Tammy French — Speyside Way Challenge My fiancée and I completed the 66 mile trek along the Speyside Way in March. Our group raised a grea £581.32 that will be divided between the charities Calaid and Help for Heroes. The trek was challenging but luckily I didn't get. Read more here Jonathan MacBride — Out in Edinburgh, Mental Health & Wellbeing April's Out In Edinburgh focused on mental health and wellbeing, with presentations from the lead counsellor at LGBT Health & Wellbeing's conseltin service, a staff member from Health In Mindl, Nagio University's Head of Student Counselling and Wellbeing Services and a Barclass staff network member who talked about some of their positive initiatives to make the ovorplace a healther place for its staff and that embracing diversity within the company can have a positive impact in the outside world. Read more here Oliver Wain — Joining The University of Edinburgh when I stumbled across the Administrative Assistant job at Edinbury Indiversity Careers Service. I have it was a job I should apply for. What I didn't know as whether Edinbury Indiversity was an employer that would support me in my transition — having socially transitioned but being on the lengthy waiting lists for medical assistance. So, I began my research: First, based on my last job interview with Stonewall (Programms officer for the diversity Champions Program!). I checked if University of Edinburgh were a Stonewall Diversity Champion. Check, they were, awesome. Heading pint the right direction, looks promising.
